

A Prayer for Christmas Eve

God with us,
as we wait for the dawning of Christmas Day,
as our souls long for your presence among us,
let us remember Bethlehem in the midst of our celebrations;
still occupied, still a place of division and fear.

God with us,
in whom there is neither Jew nor Gentile;
in the land of Christ's birth
come to the hungry places, bringing hope,
come to the dark places, bringing justice,
come to the lonely places, bringing love.
Come again in Bethlehem,
come in us, and through us, and even despite us.
That all may join the angels' song.

Glory to God in the highest heaven.
All hail, let there be joy.

A Prayer for Christmas Eve

God with us,
as we wait for the dawning of Christmas Day,
as our souls long for your presence among us,
let us remember Bethlehem in the midst of our celebrations;
still occupied, still a place of division and fear.

God with us,
in whom there is neither Jew nor Gentile;
in the land of Christ's birth
come to the hungry places, bringing hope,
come to the dark places, bringing justice,
come to the lonely places, bringing love.
Come again in Bethlehem,
come in us, and through us, and even despite us.
That all may join the angels' song.

Glory to God in the highest heaven.
All hail, let there be joy.

A Prayer for Christmas Eve

God with us,
as we wait for the dawning of Christmas Day,
as our souls long for your presence among us,
let us remember Bethlehem in the midst of our celebrations;
still occupied, still a place of division and fear.

God with us,
in whom there is neither Jew nor Gentile;
in the land of Christ's birth
come to the hungry places, bringing hope,
come to the dark places, bringing justice,
come to the lonely places, bringing love.
Come again in Bethlehem,
come in us, and through us, and even despite us.
That all may join the angels' song.

Glory to God in the highest heaven.
All hail, let there be joy.

A Prayer for Christmas Eve

God with us,
as we wait for the dawning of Christmas Day,
as our souls long for your presence among us,
let us remember Bethlehem in the midst of our celebrations;
still occupied, still a place of division and fear.

God with us,
in whom there is neither Jew nor Gentile;
in the land of Christ's birth
come to the hungry places, bringing hope,
come to the dark places, bringing justice,
come to the lonely places, bringing love.
Come again in Bethlehem,
come in us, and through us, and even despite us.
That all may join the angels' song.

Glory to God in the highest heaven.
All hail, let there be joy.

A Prayer for Christmas Eve

God with us,
as we wait for the dawning of Christmas Day,
as our souls long for your presence among us,
let us remember Bethlehem in the midst of our celebrations;
still occupied, still a place of division and fear.

God with us,
in whom there is neither Jew nor Gentile;
in the land of Christ's birth
come to the hungry places, bringing hope,
come to the dark places, bringing justice,
come to the lonely places, bringing love.
Come again in Bethlehem,
come in us, and through us, and even despite us.
That all may join the angels' song.

Glory to God in the highest heaven.
All hail, let there be joy.

A Prayer for Christmas Eve

God with us,
as we wait for the dawning of Christmas Day,
as our souls long for your presence among us,
let us remember Bethlehem in the midst of our celebrations;
still occupied, still a place of division and fear.

God with us,
in whom there is neither Jew nor Gentile;
in the land of Christ's birth
come to the hungry places, bringing hope,
come to the dark places, bringing justice,
come to the lonely places, bringing love.
Come again in Bethlehem,
come in us, and through us, and even despite us.
That all may join the angels' song.

Glory to God in the highest heaven.
All hail, let there be joy.

invest in peace

Action for a just peace in Israel and Palestine

On the 24th of every month, Church of Scotland, Christian Aid and the Scottish Episcopal Church are joining with Christians around the world to pray for peace in the Middle East.

The Church of Scotland

invest in peace

Action for a just peace in Israel and Palestine

On the 24th of every month, Church of Scotland, Christian Aid and the Scottish Episcopal Church are joining with Christians around the world to pray for peace in the Middle East.

The Church of Scotland

invest in peace

Action for a just peace in Israel and Palestine

On the 24th of every month, Church of Scotland, Christian Aid and the Scottish Episcopal Church are joining with Christians around the world to pray for peace in the Middle East.

The Church of Scotland

invest in peace

Action for a just peace in Israel and Palestine

On the 24th of every month, Church of Scotland, Christian Aid and the Scottish Episcopal Church are joining with Christians around the world to pray for peace in the Middle East.

The Church of Scotland

invest in peace

Action for a just peace in Israel and Palestine

On the 24th of every month, Church of Scotland, Christian Aid and the Scottish Episcopal Church are joining with Christians around the world to pray for peace in the Middle East.

The Church of Scotland

invest in peace

Action for a just peace in Israel and Palestine

On the 24th of every month, Church of Scotland, Christian Aid and the Scottish Episcopal Church are joining with Christians around the world to pray for peace in the Middle East.

The Church of Scotland

